

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended
Hahn's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS
THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cas-esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.
They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold it taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

fords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, etc. etc.

Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaster.

removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion,

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflammatory redness, scurfs, tetters, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water,

French Creek Boarding School.

The following is published for the information of Parents:

HAVING long believed that a School on a plan different from most others in many respects, would be beneficial to society, and apprehending that with all its cares, and the responsibility inseparable from such a concern, I could more cheerfully devote my time to the education of children than to any other business, I have concluded to establish a BOARDING SCHOOL FOR GIRLS.
With this view I have purchased the FRENCH CREEK FARM, four miles east of the yellow springs, on the Norristown and Philadelphia road, situated in Pike-land and Vincent townships, Chester county, twenty-seven miles from Philadelphia, combining many conveniences for the support of such an institution; and having let the farm, etc. in a way calculated to supply the family with provisions, I propose to devote my attention, with the aid of suitable assistants, to the education of the children who may be placed under my care.

In selecting the pupils, it is not proposed to be governed entirely by their age, nor to require that they shall all be members of the religious society of Friends; but as the school rules will be very few in number and very simple, it is my wish that none may be sent contrary to their own inclination, nor any one who would not be likely to be good examples to the other scholars, and treat them with kindness and affection.

The price for board and tuition will be two hundred Dollars per annum, one quarter always to be paid in advance—no restrictions respecting the kind of clothing are intended, nor respecting the frequency of the changes that parents may require; the washing will be charged at the ordinary price per dozen—children may be admitted for one quarter only, and such as are entered for a longer period, may nevertheless be removed at the expiration of any quarter.— The communication with Philadelphia will be frequent and easy by stage, and a house of entertainment kept by the farmer for the accommodation of persons having business at the school.

Reading, Writing, Arithmetic, English Grammar; Geography and the use of Maps and globes, will be taught, together with such other branches as the progress of the children and experience may render expedient. The school to open the first of the 5th month next. For further information apply to Edward Stabler, Alexandria, or to

PROPOSALS

for publishing by subscription, a new work, entitled
THE TREASURE OF HEALTH; OR,
A complete collection of the most valuable secrets in medicine, for the cure of all diseases, wounds and other accidents to which the human body is subject; with the method of preparing, and instructions for using, the necessary remedies.
Also, the best preservatives against the plague, small pox, and all other kinds of contagious diseases.—Discovered after much research and experience by the most skillful physicians in Europe, and employed with the greatest success; and unknown till the present time in the United States.
Carefully collected, by a Benevolent Society, and faithfully translated from the French, and other foreign languages.
And published for the benefit of humanity,
BY LEWIS MERLIN.

TO THE PUBLIC.

The work which is this day offered for public usefulness, ought not to be looked upon as those which a desire of gain bring forth every day among us. This is a rare and precious collection of the most valuable secrets in medicine, which the most skillful physicians have discovered after long researches, labor and experience. It is, without contradiction, the first of the kind that has ever appeared within the United States of America, and a treasure which every head of a family could not too much appreciate; as it points out the symptoms of several diseases, of which many persons are only acquainted with their names; 2d, the receipt of the quantity and quality of the drugs that are made use of; 3d, their preparations so carefully described and detailed that the least intelligent person cannot be mistaken; and finally the necessary doses and the manner of administering them.
One may rest assured that all in this collection is easy to put into practice, the expense is trifling because all the simples and plants which compose the greatest part of the receipts it contains, may be found in the fields and in the gardens; in a word, that it affords the means of curing, in a short time, all the diseases, and evils with which one may be addicted, and at a low expense.

It is to a benevolent society we are indebted for such a precious treasure.
Their whole good wish towards suffering humanity, induced that society to spare neither pains, care nor expense in obtaining from all parts of the globe, and to give in one and only collection, a valuable and complete selection of receipts for the cure of all diseases with which the human body is every day afflicted, which their renowned virtues, the repeated experience that has been made of them, even on patients who had been given up by their physicians, and the cures resulting from them, have caused them to be adopted as sovereign and infallible remedies.

Amongst the great number of diseases that have been cured by these inestimable secrets, we shall only name some of them, of which the foreign journals and American newspapers have borne the most authenticated testimony, such as apoplexy, asthma, bilious, windy and nephretic colic, consumption of lungs, debility, dysentery, diarrhoea, dropsy in the breast, in the brain, compound dropsy, anar-sarque et ascites, epilepsy, diseases of the eyes, intermittent, tertian, quar-tan, continual and inflammatory fevers, malignant, spotted and scarlet fevers, hives (so fatal to children), inflammation of the bowels, of the liver and lungs, gangrene, itch, jaundice, fits, hooping-cough, lethargy, leprosy, rheumatism, pulmonary, scurvy, swellings, sore throat, worms, tape-worm, complaints of the bowels, looseness or bloody flux, folly or madness originated after a sequel of disease, or through an immoderate use of spirituous liquors, cold and sciattic gouts, gravel, gonorrhoea, hydrophobia, bite of venomous animals, hemorrhage, palpitation of the heart, stone, &c. &c.

This precious collection contains likewise a great number of receipts for preparing several kinds of balsams, ointment or salves, with the manner of using them, and the effects of which are so surprising, that they cure in a very short time, the cancers, without the assistance of any operation; the king's evil, tetter or ring's worm, wens; all sorts of cuts, wounds, however large and deep they may be, both inward and outward hemorrhoids, all pains and swellings arising from rheumatism, all kinds of burns, all cataracts of the eyes, even those that deprive of the sight; all sores that come on women's breasts; all kinds of sore legs and ulcers, however old they may be; chancres, bu-hoes, and other venereal disorders; they join the nerves again, when they have been cut or broken in any manner whatever; they strengthen weak nerves and prevent the palsy whenever one is threatened with it; they draw out broken bones and all other foreign bodies that may be in sores or wounds; in short, these ointments or salves do possess such a virtue against the gangrene, that many persons being at the point of having their legs, hands or fingers cut off, have been entirely cured by the application of these ointments alone.

In this interesting work will be also found the inestimable receipt of the grand preventives against the plague, pestilential, spotted and other fevers; small pox, and all kinds of contagious diseases; their preparations with this manner of making use of them both inwardly and outwardly, as well to preserve ourselves against the contagion as to be cured whenever one is afflicted with them; and wonderful and most valuable secrets in medicine —always employed with success, and never failed to cure in epidemic and contagious diseases, and unknown to the present time in the United States of America.

In short, the famous and renowned syrup of long life, or the great preservator of health, whose extraordinary virtues have drawn the attention of a great number of physicians, although the desire of gain has endeavored to counterfeit or imitate it, but always without success. That receipt so very simple, so very easy to prepare, and of a good taste, was given by an old gentleman of one hundred and thirty-two years of age, who began to make use of it at the age of 60 without his having ever experienced the least inconvenience. The good effects which this simple receipt has always produced on the persons who have made use of it are so well known that no more need to be said on that subject; and although this work contains a great number more of other receipts and other matters not less interesting for the human body, we shall not dwell any longer on the benefits arising to the public out of this precious collection; because it is only by putting what is taught in it into actice, that the public will be convinced of the truth that there is no quackery nor deception in all that has been said, but many truths which could not be too much appreciated.

We recommend this work to heads of families, more particularly to those who reside in the country, who owing to their situation are often deprived of medical assistance in cases of the most urgent necessity; it is likewise of the greatest utility to those who through their profession are obliged to visit the sick; as also to the ministers and pastors of congregations, who in their situation are likewise obliged to afford relief to suffering humanity; in short, it could not be too much recommended to captains, masters of vessels, seafaring men and other travellers, who frequent warm climates, as well as to those persons who have a desire to preserve their own health; so much the more, as (we repeat it again) that all therein contained is easy to put in practice, and the expense is small.

As the publication of this work is not an object of a pecuniary speculation, but the welfare of humanity generally, we have endeavored, as well as the expense has permitted, to fix the price of subscription as low as possible, in order that the poor as well as the rich may be able to obtain it, and experience its good effects principally in warm seasons, and in cases of contagious diseases.

CONDITIONS.

To render this work more portable, and comply with the wishes of many persons, it will form a large volume in 12mo. to be printed on good paper and good type, and delivered neatly bound and lettered to subscribers at 150 cents, to non-subscribers, the price will be enhanced to two dollars, and the profit arising from it will be for the benefit of the poor.

As soon as the subscription will be sufficient to defray the expense of printing, the work will be put to press and distributed as soon as circumstances will permit.

To prevent counterfeiting this work, the copy right has been secured according to law; and moreover each copy shall be signed by the person who has the sole direction of superintending the publication of it.

SELECTED.
The ADIEU, by Abou Mahomed.
The boatmen shout, "Tis time to part,
No longer we can stay;
'Twas then Maimuna taught my heart
How much a glance could say.

With trembling steps to me she came;
"Farewell," she would have cried, But e'er her lips the word could frame,
In half form'd sounds it died.

Then bending down with looks of love,
Her arms she round me flung,
And, as the gale hangs on the grove,
Upon my breast she hung.

My willing arms embrac'd the maid,
My heart with raptures beat;
While she but wept the more, and said,
"Would we had never met."

FOR THE GAZETTE.
"We shall all endure unto the end,
The same shall be saved," Mark 13, 13.

So the blessed Saviour thought, and so his disciples continue to believe. By perseverance in faith, the crown shall be enjoyed; so glory perfects what grace begins.
God's power is faith's confidence; God's truth is faith's assurance; for faith's author and faith's finisher is Jesus. "Wherefore the righteous shall hold on his way, and he that hath clean hands be stronger and stronger." "Not every one that saith unto me Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven, but he that doeth the will of my father which is in heaven. He that heareth these sayings and doeth them, I will liken unto a wise man, &c. &c.; but he that heareth and doeth them not, shall be likened unto a foolish man, who built his house on the sand; and the rains descended, and the winds blew, and beat on the house, and it fell, and great was the fall of it."

Those instructed by the holy spirit will credit the testimony of God concerning his son, and way of acceptance through his attonement and mediation.

Whichever some men may advance respecting the innocency of error, and small importance of doctrinal truth, the inspired writers uniformly consider unbelief as springing from an evil heart, and false doctrines as damnable heresies, which God permits for the punishment of those of whom he speaks, when he asks, "what shall be given unto thee; or what shall be done unto thee, thou false tongue." Ps. 130, 3.

To all such, however, that oppose their own blasphemous reasonings to the express testimony of the holy scriptures, the righteous judge has declared he will recompense indignation and wrath, tribulation and anguish.

It is evident from the holy scriptures, that faith and unbelief determine a man's state in the sight of God, either as being justified, or remaining under condemnation.
He that believeth and is baptised, shall be saved; and he that believeth not shall be damned. Take heed therefore professor, how you glory in any thing save the cross of Christ, for all that is not truth is a lie; and whatever system men may adopt, if they trust the event of the great decisive day on any works of their own, or on any thing contrary to the page of truth, they follow a meteor that will lead them to the abode of the damned spirits, unless he, whom they now reject, snatches them from the impending flame, by his electing, unchangeable love.

The advantages some men may enjoy, the manner and force of early convictions, with the degree of their enmity to the religion of Jesus, as set forth in the gospel, will determine the measure of their guilt and punishment. Let him therefore who thinketh he standeth, (take heed lest he fall).
Let him take heed lest he trust in uncertain riches, and so make shipwreck of his fancied faith, imaginary good conscience, and self-applauding, inherent righteousness. Many have perished in the gulf of vainglory and presumption. Believer, see to it; you whose minds have been enlightened by the spirit of truth, that you hold fast and contend earnestly for the faith once delivered to God's saints: such as the doctrines of eternal election to salvation, according to the covenant love of the ever blessed trinity; full justification by the perfect righteousness of Jesus, and final perseverance in holiness by the spirit of truth.— Hold them fast, disciple, not in word only, but in power, as the essential truths of Jehovah, so thou shalt have and keep a good conscience, sprinkled from guilt by the blood of Jesus, and a good testimony of it, by the spirit of grace through faith.

SHAKESPEARE.

We do not hesitate to pronounce the condition of these islanders, the most perfect state of social existence. Indeed it so far transcends any thing of reality before known or heard of, that nothing less than the strong evidence which accompanies it could procure it one moment's belief. So many social virtues unalloyed by any counterbalancing fault, would, from what we have been accustomed to see among men, throw upon the whole account an air of romantic fiction. Even that nice sensibility and charming delivery hitherto supposed to be the exclusive charm of highly polished society, they possess in a degree unsurpassed, in their practice most studiously conforming to its suggestions. Among a multitude of instances of this, is the following anecdote:

"A young man belonging to the Alceste had died. When the natives were informed of the circumstance, they requested permission to make the grave, and begged captain Maxwell to point out a place for the purpose. Captain M. said that no place could be more appropriate than under the grove of trees near the temple, a spot already rendered sacred by many Loo-Choo tombs. Next day the formalities usual on such occasions, captain Maxwell, according to custom, walking last, with the officers and crew before him. The ready politeness of the natives was never more strikingly displayed than now; for, perceiving that those who were of the highest rank walked in the rear, they considered that their station must of course be in front, and they accordingly placed themselves at the head of the procession, and preserved throughout the ceremony the most profound silence."

That they are in no wise averse to conviviality, or the pleasures of the bottle, as we call it, and what is more to their honor, that they can indulge in it without sinking into the brutal excess of savages, or of civilized men worse than savages, as amongst us, appears from the following:

"They were all in high spirits, and eat and drank freely, and though they complained of the size of the glasses, and of the strength of the wine, tasted every thing from punch to Champagne: the briskness of the latter surprised them not a little, and effectually muddled two of them for some time.
Cheese was the only thing they all objected to, probably on account of its being made of milk, which they never taste. The interpreter not being present, the conversation was carried on through Mr. Clifford and Madera, and partly by signs. MADERA has often dined on board ship, and was quite perfect in our customs. On this occasion he took charge of the chiefs at his end of the table, speaking sometimes in one language and sometimes in the other. Observing MADERA eating ham without mustard, he called to captain Maxwell's servant, and pointing to MADERA said, 'Tom, take mustard to him.'"

"After sitting about an hour and a half after dinner, and drinking with tolerable spirit, they rose to depart; but this they were not allowed to do, and they were informed that it was the English custom to sit a much longer time. They represented that the sun had set, and they would never be able to find their way on shore, but would all be drowned in attempting it. This alarming difficulty was easily over-ruled by a promise of the barge, and they sat down again. Three or four bunnies made the party very merry, and it was intimated to them, that as all the usual formalities had been observed, they might drink as much as they liked, or pass the bottle altogether; a permission of which few of them took advantage. They lighted their pipes, laughed, joked, and seemed so happy, that it was agreed on all hands that conviviality is no where better understood than at Loo-Choo. After a time, at our request, they played some games, of which we had heard them speak. Before leaving the cabin they showed us a Loo-Choo dance round the table: Madera placed himself at the head before Ookoona, while the others ranged themselves in a line behind him; he began by a song, the air of which was very pretty, and nearly at the same time commenced the dance, which consisted principally in throwing the body into a variety of postures, and twisting the hands about. Sometimes the hands were placed flat together, at others separate—but generally the former. The movements both of the body and hands, were regular and of a waving description. In this way they went several times round the table. Madera had a graceful carriage; and his dancing, though fantastic was really elegant; his singing too was in good taste. The others danced clumsily, though in perfect good time, and joined with some spirit in the chorus."

"The ship was illuminated, and the sailors were dancing on the upper deck. The chiefs were much pleased with this scene, which was lively enough. After watching the dance of the sailors for a few minutes, Madera, who (to use a common phrase), was up to every thing, ran among the sailors, and seizing one by the shoulders, put him out of the dance, took his place, and kept up the reel with the same spirit, and exactly in the same style and step as the sailors. The other dances were left off, and the whole ship's company assembled round Madera, cheered and clapped him till the dance was done. The chiefs joined in the applause, seeming no less surprised than ourselves at Madera's skill; for his imitation of the sailors' odd steps and gestures was as exact as if he had lived among seamen all his life. The officers then danced a country dance, after which the chiefs, unasked, and with a sort of instinctive politeness, which rendered every thing they did appropriate, instantly stepped forward, and danced several times round the quartermaster, to the infinite gratification of the sailors."

Few editors in this country have a more happy faculty of condensing and arranging paragraphs for a news-paper, than Mr.
Spoonor, of the Columbian. His industry and steady perseverance, must surmount the obstacles which, heretofore, have prevented the rise of that paper. Its politics is one thing, and the character and industry of its editor another. Waving all other considerations, we wish an ample reward to industry. [New-York Gazette.

EXTRAORDINARY PASSAGE.
Under this head, the Boston Intelligencer remarks, that the ship Milo, Captain Bronson, sailed from Boston 12th May last, arrived at Charleston the 29th, discharged, loaded and sailed from thence with a full freight of 1300 bags of cotton (under decks) 7th June—and arrived at Liverpool on the 28th June—47 days in all. [Ibid.

The publication of a voyage to Africa, by the marquis Etourville, during the revolution, is stated in a French paper, to be very interesting. The author mentions in his travels, the discovery of a new empire near the sources of the Nile, which he supposes anterior to the Egyptians in civilization. Its government is said to be similar to that of China. [Charleston Patriot.

According to late accounts from Algiers, eighteen thousand persons have fallen victims in that city to the plague. It was still increasing and taking off from forty to fifty persons per day. [Ibid.

It will be recollected, that last fall, a number of English officers, commanded by one colonel M'Donald, arrived at Amelia Island, for the purpose of joining general McGregor. After the occupation of the Island by the American troops, they sailed in a patriot privateer for St. Bartholomews, whence they directed their steps to the Main. We have understood from good authority, that colonel M'Donald and eleven others, landed in the month of May, somewhere on the Oronoke, intending to join a body of patriots which were said to be stationed there. They, however, accidentally fell in with a small party of royalists, who summoned, or ordered them to surrender.
This they refused to do—an action ensued, and they were all cut off to a man. As the fate of these unfortunate men is not generally known, we think it our duty to publish the account for the information of the families and friends they may have on the other side of the Atlantic. The above information is from a source that may be relied on. [Charleston Times.

DECLINE OF SPAIN.
It is a singular and impressive fact in the history of nations, that Spain, the most warlike, ambitious, and formidable power in Europe in the reign of Charles V. and Philip II. should now be sunk to the lowest depths of degradation. In the time of the latter of these monarchs, France trembled more than once for the safety of Paris, by reason of Spanish invasion, and England contended against the "Invincible Armada" for her very existence. Now Spain is fallen so low that there is none to do her reverence. [New-York Daily Adver.

DARING ROBBERY.
A few nights since, the Jewellery Store of Mr. Jacob Sargeant, was broken open and goods taken to the amount of 2500 dollars. The following is a list of some of the articles taken:—7 gold watches; 55 silver do.; a large quantity of gold watch-chains, seals and keys; a quantity of gold pearl set finger and ear rings; 4 set of silver table spoons, and 30 set of silver tea spoons, stamped J. Sargeant; 1 large silver soup ladle; 15 pair silver sugar tongs; 2 pair pocket pistols, &c. &c. The store was entered by boring the window shutter and frame with a large auger, until a hole was made large enough to draw out the bolt, and then breaking a hole through the window. It is evidently the work of experienced scoundrels, as the store is situated in the most conspicuous part of the city. A reward of 300 dollars is offered for the detection of the thieves. [Hartford paper.

David Meade Randolph, esq. of Virginia, announces that he has discovered a cement that answers for the character of the puzza-lona, and becomes hard after a short time in water. This is a valuable discovery if the inventor has confidence in its principles. The Roman cement, which has become so hardened with time as to be as durable as stone, has long been lost; various attempts have been made to revive it.— The Dutch terrois approximated near it, but still failed in withstanding the constant immersion in water. This cement is valuable in all species of stone work and masonry, in bridges, in puddling canals, in tanks or cisterns—and we trust that experiments will continue to be made. [N. Y. Adver.

A GOOD HIT.
The English papers, (says the Portland Argus) notice a great improvement in their naval architecture—the construction of "round sterns" to their ships of war, which enables them to fight more than twice the number of guns astern. This improvement has undoubtedly been suggested by the incidents of the late war with this country: Stern chasers were frequently their main dependence.

A few nights past as Mr. Stewart, an officer in the Bank of the United States, was returning to his lodgings, he was attacked by dogs at the corner of Pine and Third streets, was thrown down by them on the pavement, and his life endangered by the ferocity of the attack and the numbers which surrounded him; a single dog crossed the street and approached him evidently menacing his throat, and in defending himself from the murderous attempt, his hand was bitten through the side of palm; and his body seriously lacerated by other dogs who joined in the assault; fortunately he was rescued from death, by means of persons who heard his cries, so seasonably as to beat off the assailants. Since the attack Mr. Stewart has not been able to attend to his duties in Bank. [Phil. Daily Adv.

From the Dublin Evening Post.
This day (June 30) the Election for the city of Dublin came on at the Sessions house in Green-street. Mr. Grattan was proposed by Mr. Latouche, and seconded by Mr. Guinness. Mr. Shaw was proposed by the Lord Mayor, and seconded by Mr. Ball, the banker. There was no opposition, and scarcely forty electors present. Both gentlemen made speeches, and were very ill received by their audience.

Outrage on Mr. Grattan, 2 o'clock.—We regret exceedingly to state, that the populace broke out into acts of open outrage against their Representatives. A chair of considerable value, highly decorated, was prepared for the Representatives, but from the moment they appeared, they were received with hisses and groans. They had not proceeded twenty paces up Henry street, when a violent assault commenced.
The flag-bearers, in the front of the car, were attacked with great fury, and were obliged to convert their flag-staves into weapons of defence. The battle, however, was short. Missiles began to fly in all directions, and we have to state, with a mixture of indignation and horror, that Mr.
Grattan received a contusion in the forehead; he was obliged to descend from the car, which was instantly torn into atoms.
The Right Hon. Gentleman took shelter in a house in Mary-street, and Mr. Shaw retired also.

FURTHER PARTICULARS.
Dublin Evening Post Office, three o'clock.
The people in immense multitudes continued to collect around the house of Mr.
Preston, (where Mr. Grattan took refuge) assuming every moment a more determined and ferocious appearance.

Mr. Guinness, Mr. Grattan, jun. and others, addressed them from the window, but it appeared to produce only the tranquility of a moment. Lord Charlemont, and a number of other Gentlemen appeared at the window, when Mr. Phillips was recognized in the street by the multitude, who immediately insisted that he should address them —He was accordingly admitted into the house, and he, Mr. Guinness, and Lord Charlemont, stood together upon the platform beneath the window. When silence was restored, Mr. Phillips spoke in substance nearly as follows:

My fellow-countrymen, you know well that I feel for the humblest man amongst you.—(Cries of we do, we do.)—and you know also what I feel for my country.— (Cries of Bravo.)—In the name, then, of the character, not only of that humblest man, but of that country also, I call on you to redeem both from the stain which this day's abominable turpitude has cast upon it. You have wrongs, and I know them—I feel them—but in the name of God, wreak these wrongs upon your enemies, and not upon your zealous and indefatigable friend.
Remember, he it was that gave you a constitution—and remember too, if all were like him, my poor countrymen would still have a country. (Applause) Here do I, one of yourselves, address you, in behalf of yourselves—in behalf of the man of the people, and standing by the son of that glorious Charlemont whom I emphatically call the Noddeman of the people. (Here there was an universal burst of applause, and Lord C. made his acknowledgments.)

Remember 1782. Remember the period of the abominable Union! and prove by your conduct now, that you do not forget those times. (We will, we will!)—There is only one way of doing it. Do not insist on Mr. Grattan's being brought forth; feeble, as his surgeon tells me he is, with the dust and heat of this immense multitude—(shouts)—prove the necessity of his enthusiasm by acts, not words. Come, give him three hearty cheers, and then let every man go peaceably home.

This address happily produced its effects.—The whole multitude gave 3 distinct cheers, and in a few minutes there was not a trace of the frightful uproar which had so terrified the neighborhood.

Remarkable Preservation of the Brig Generous Carver.

Extract of a letter from Capt. S. Doten, of the brig Governor Carver, of Plymouth, to his Outhers, dated Havre, June 23d.

"On the 29th of May, in lat. 42, 20 long.
50, near the easterly end of the Grand Bank, at 3 P. M. we observed some small islands of ice. It being very foggy, with the wind S. W. and going at the rate of 54 knots we immediately took in our royal and steering sails, intending to alter my course to the South, being after obliged to luff and bear away for the islands of ice, which lay about us. While in the act of hauling the sails, I discovered an object twice as high as our mast heads, appearing like a water spout, but did not think it possible that an island of ice should be so high. I immediately ordered the helm a weather, hoping to get the vessel before the wind and clear of danger whatever it might be—but before this could be done, we found ourselves completely surrounded, and covered by this immense Mountain of ice, which projected over our heads, so that the water, which ran from it in streams and rivulets, fell over the vessel on the opposite side; and although our steering sail booms were rigged out, on the side next the ice, making a distance of 27 feet, from the centre of the brig, they did not touch it.

Fortunately we succeeded to get clear, and in less than five minutes, and while so near that the rebounding of the water reached the vessel, this immense body of ice fell over directly towards us, with a crashing noise resembling the heaviest thunder, and continued for the space of a minute and a half.

[No. 6.]

Every office under government in Turkey is sold to the highest bidder, and the person who obtains them, extorts from the people, in a ratio fully equal to the amount they pay.

About six weeks previous to our arrival, the Turkish fleet from Constantinople entered the port of Smyrna, commanded by the Captain Pacha, who observed to the Governor, on being visited, that understanding he was a good sportsman, he had brought him an elegant fowling piece, and requested he would call again on the following morning and accompany him on shore.

Blinded by the present of a gun, and not dreaming of treachery, he obeyed the order, but instead of being received with kindness, he was conveyed on board a frigate, which immediately got under way, and on anchoring below the castle, his head was struck off, and sent by an express to adorn the gate of the Seraglio at Constantinople.

Thus ended the life of this man, after having held the government of Smyrna upwards of twenty years against the will of the Grand Seigneur, who had tried many methods to displace him. Governors were appointed without effect, as they dared not face his Janissaries; and when a greater man than himself arrived at Smyrna, he had been in the habit of retiring to one of his country seats, and leaving his town residence to him, superior in power—but in this instance he was deceived—for having shewn the Captain Pacha much kindness on one occasion he thought he might depend on his friendship.

He was charged of being excessively cruel to the subjects of the Empire—this is true—for whenever he took a fancy to the wife, sister, or daughter of a poor Greek, or Armenian, he would order her without any ceremony to his Harem; and if the relatives complained, they were almost sure of receiving the bastinado.

Another charge against him, which went farthest to promote his destruction, was, that he was a Christian! Certain it is, he was very kind to the Franks, and very fond of their society; but the only visible mark of his conversion, was, his getting drunk on wine whenever he could persuade any of the Europeans to join him, at which time he would be very familiar, allowing them to pull the pipe out of his mouth, and replace it at pleasure.

Agreeable to the custom of all those holding lucrative offices under government, he was at a great expence to support spies at the Porte, and was regularly informed of every circumstance that transpired by their means—so vigilant were they, that although the Grand Seigneur had dispatched many firms to have him beheaded, he always was fortunate enough to escape before they had an opportunity of putting any of them in execution.

His death—which may be considered a natural one to great men in Turkey, caused no disturbance in the city. The Franks regretted his decease—the residue of the inhabitants rejoiced at it. His successor, however, brings to my mind the frogs reversed.—They had a serpent, and they now have a leg.

While in the act of handling the sails, I discovered an object twice as high as our mast head, appearing like a water spout, but did not think it possible that an island of ice should be so high. I immediately ordered the helm a weather, hoping to get the vessel before the wind and clear of danger whatever it might be—but before the could be done, we found ourselves completely surrounded, and covered by this immense mountain of ice, which projected over our heads, so that the water, which ran from it in streams and rivulets, fell over the vessel on the opposite side; and although our steering sail boom was rigged out, on the side next the ice, making a distance of 27 feet, from the centre of the brig, it did not touch it.

Fortunately we succeeded to get clear, and in less than five minutes, and while so near that the rebounding of the water reached the vessel, this immense body of ice fell over directly towards us, with a crushing noise resembling the heaviest thunder, and continued for the space of a minute and an half.

I shall always attribute the saving of the brig to the steady firmness and active exertions of the mate and crew, who have merited my sincere gratitude."

LETTERS FROM ASIA.

Extract from a series of letters, written by an American gentleman while in Asia, to his friend in Boston. The writer unfortunately died by the plague, on his passage from Alexandria, in Egypt, to Constantinople, in a Grecian vessel.

(Boston Patriot.)

[No. 6.] Every office under government in Turkey is sold to the highest bidder, and the person who obtains them, extorts from the people, in a ratio fully equal to the amount they pay.

About six weeks previous to our arrival, the Turkish fleet from Constantinople entered the port of Smyrna, commanded by the Captain Pacha, who observed to the Governor, on being visited, that understanding he was a good sportsman, he had brought him an elegant fowling piece, and requested he would call again on the following morning and accompany him on shore.

Blinded by the present of a gun, and not dreaming of treachery, he obeyed the order, but instead of being received with kindness, he was conveyed on board a frigate, which immediately got under way, and on anchoring below the castle, his head was struck off and sent by an express to adorn the gate of the Seraglio at Constantinople.

Thus ended the life of this man, after having held the government of Smyrna upwards of twenty years against the will of the Grand Seigneur, who had tried many methods to displace him. Governors were appointed without effect, as they dared not face his Janissaries; and when a greater man than himself arrived at Smyrna, he had been in the habit of retiring to one of his country seats, and leaving his town residence to him, superior in power—but in this instance he was deceived—for having shewn the Captain Pacha much kindness on one occasion he thought he might depend on his friendship.

He was accused of being excessively cruel to the subjects of the Empire—this is true—for whenever he took a fancy to the wife, sister, or daughter of a poor Greek, or Armenian, he would order her without any ceremony to his harem; and if the relatives complained, they were almost sure of receiving the bastinado.

Another charge against him, which went farthest to promote his destruction, was, that he was a Christian! Certain it is, he was very kind to the Franks, and very fond of his society; but the only visible mark of his conversion, was his getting drunk on wine whenever he could persuade any of the Europeans to join him, at which time he would be very familiar, allowing them to pull the pipe out of his mouth, and replace it at pleasure.

Agreeable to the custom of all those holding lucrative offices under government, he was at a great expence to support spies at the Porte, and was regularly informed of every circumstance that transpired by their means—so vigilant were they, that although the Grand Seigneur had dispatched many francs to have him beheaded, he always was fortunate enough to escape before they had an opportunity of putting any of them in execution.

His death—which may be considered a natural one to great men in Turkey, caused no disturbance in the city. The Franks regretted his decease—the residue of the inhabitants rejoiced at it. His successor, however, brings to my mind the frogs reversed—They had a serpent, and they now have a log.

For the information of all persons throughout the U. States, R. Riggs makes it known, that all of the Banks of the District of Columbia pay their notes on demand in specie; and it would be much to the advantage of the merchants, and trading to the South and west, to encourage the circulation of the Notes of the Banks of Georgetown, Washington and Alexandria, as it will at all times answer for remittances to the large commercial and Atlantic towns—all persons emigrating or travelling to the westward should be very particular and take the Notes of the Banks of the District of Columbia, as they will find them the most current, there being no counterfeits on the District Banks. The Merchants' Bank of Alexandria has long since failed—all persons should be on their guard, as they will be imposed on.

Dr. Thomson's System of Chemistry.

IN FOUR VOLUMES OCTAVO.

THE preceding edition of Dr. Thomson's Chemistry, had acquired so much reputation both in England and upon the continent of Europe, that a new edition, comprising the new facts with which the science had been enriched, and the new views of the subject which extended knowledge had suggested as indispensable, was eagerly looked for by the scientific world. A new edition has accordingly appeared, wherein the former edition of five volumes has been condensed into four.

All the new discoveries, and all the new theories of Chemical Phenomena, have been considered and embraced in the present improved edition: so that it is indispensable to the chemical student, as presenting the only condensed view of the changes and alterations in chemical doctrine, which the discoveries of the last ten years have suggested. No apology therefore can be necessary for reprinting such a book in this country; for the press does not furnish a substitute so much of fact of dubious authority—and so much of dubious validity—that notes and illustrations are absolutely necessary, not merely to render the book more useful, but more intelligible.

Under these impressions, I thought fit to write notes in illustration (and sometimes in contradiction) of the work itself, rather than to make any abridgement of it. Those who wish to know the modern views of chemical science, must peruse it; and to very many who will be anxious to study it, elucidation will be necessary. I have endeavored to supply these, to the best of my ability; regardless whether my own opinions are in dissonance or coincidence with those of my author; leaving to the reader to decide between us.

The work will be published, with notes and illustrations, in four volumes 8vo.
THOMAS COOPER, M. D.

James Kennedy & Son,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from LEE'S MEDICINE STORE, No. 46, Maiden lane, New-York, a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:

Hamilton's Worm-destroying Lozenges.

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Terebra or large round worm; the Ascarides or small flat-worm; the Cucurbitina or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tenia or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fetid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm-destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number who in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance; they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

To the friends of Humanity.

A Naged, infirm, and widowed mother, is desirous to receive information of THOMAS BURTON CARTER, an only son, concerning whom she has not heard any thing, on which reliance can be placed, for nearly three years. He removed from this place to the state of Ohio about five years ago. The last certain account she had from him, was from Cadiz in that state. He is about twenty five years of age; by trade a tailor. Vague rumour has recent, pronounced him dead. A letter communicating information relative to him, directed to Henry Tutwiler, P. M. at this place, would confer a peculiar kindness on an afflicted woman.

Editors of Newspapers generally, are intreated to give this article a place in their columns a few weeks.

RAN away from the subscriber's farm, near Piscataway, Md on or about the 1st day of March, 1818, a dark mulatto man named Nick, five feet ten or eleven inches high, slender made, a little deaf, speaks a little through his nose, has been in the habit of wearing rings in his ears, but may have taken them out to avoid discovery. Said negro Nick has a wife on Mr. Thomas A. Diggs's land, near Fort Washington, and is probably harbored in that neighborhood.
